Fire Station Tagged Disgrace

Only the termites and nothing else is holding the Walteria fire station together.

So charged Councilman J. A. Beasley in calling the fire house a "disgrace."

"I wished the termites would get drunk so they wouldn't hold the place together," the councilman snorted.

Mayor Albert Isen suggested that the station be moved to Torrance Municipal Airport where federal funds may be received for it under civil defense classification.

Water Signups Still Lagging

Torrance volunteers have collected 1428 of the 6750 signatures set as its quota for the petitions for a Water Replenishment District, Pat Hogue, chairman of the Water Commission announced.

Ernest Mosher, chairman for Lomita, reported that 100 of the 1000 signatures have been turned in by him.

The petitions will seek vote on a proposed district designed to recharge underground water supply to counteract erosion on the coast line.

Hahn Hits Edison Co. On Smog

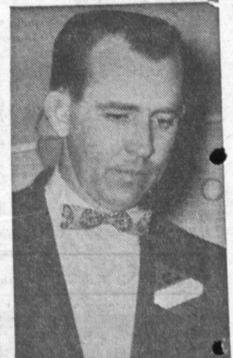

Application by the Edison Company for another variance from the Air Pollution Control District, was hit this week by Supervisor Kenneth Hahn.

"Three years time seems more than ample to control the emissions from these plants," he declared.

He said the power plants operated by the company, including the one in Redondo Beach, burn huge quantities of low grade crude oil. He said between 2,475,000 to 3,025,000 gallons of this oil is burned daily when the plants are operating on crude oils.

He claims that huge quantities of air contaminants, plainly visible for many miles, result from the burning of this sludge.

"These plants have been burning this oil in violation of regulations because of variances granted them to install control equipment," Hahn said.

APPOINTMENT—Dr. Charles E. Jones of Torrance is the new chairman of the research and education program for the Chiropractic Institute of California.

He charged that the company has been operating under the variance since March 6, 1956.

"I hope this will be the last time they will ask the hearing board for a variance," the supervisor concluded.

Parking Variance Rejected

Councilmen overruled a Planning Commission recommendation in denying a variance for a doctor's parking lot at 1217 Acacia Ave.

"This looks to me like creeping commercialism," declared Councilman Victor Benstead, referring to the application made by J. F. and Florence Reed.

Councilman George Bradford charged that allowing medical offices to be built on entire lots on Torrance Blvd. constituted "very poor planning."

Councilman J. A. Beasley, a former commissioner, took exception to the remark and said the fault was with the City Council.

Speakers against the variance included Lawrence Gitschier and Fire Chief J. J. Benner, who claim the parking lot will not help the neighborhood.

They also claimed that on-street parking in the neighborhood creates traffic congestion on Acacia.

Drive sensibly on freeway access roads and use to good advantage the speed-changing lanes entering and leaving the freeways, urges the Automobile Club of Southern California. Remember to enter and leave the freeway at a speed in tune with the flow of traffic. Don't attempt to enter from a standing start unless there is a posted stop.
